The congratulations read:

Today, the country celebrates Russian Entrepreneurship Day. This holiday unites those who, doing their business, investing their knowledge and experience in it, create new jobs, pay taxes, replenish the country's budget, and are involved in social and charitable projects.

In fact, everything that surrounds us today, what every resident of the country uses every day, is the result of the work of entrepreneurs: food and clothing, medical services and cars, houses and medicines, and much more.

Today I would like to thank everyone who, despite the difficult times for the Russian economy, creates, does not lose optimism, believes in the best. Happy Russian Entrepreneurship Day!

Maxim Zagornov,

Director of the MKS Group of Companies,
