Innovation Summit Moscow 2021 kicks off in Moscow today

April 27, 2021

On April 27, the Innovation Summit Moscow 2021 starts working in Moscow — a global event dedicated to digital transformation, business efficiency in the turbulent world economy and digital technologies to combat climate change. The event is organized by a member of the Distributed Power Generation Association, Schneider Electric. Maksim Zagornov Director of MKC Group of Companies will be among the speakers of the summit.

As part of the three-day digital marathon, leading Schneider Electric experts and invited experts will talk about the company's innovative solutions in the field of data centers, edge computing, oil and gas industry, industrial automation, industrial design and commercial real estate. Special attention will be paid to issues of cybersecurity, power distribution, BIM-design, power supply, electrical monitoring and housing construction.

Improving efficiency and reducing the carbon footprint of businesses will be one of the key themes of the Innovation Summit. The top officials of Schneider Electric, recognized as the most sustainable and socially responsible corporation in the world according to Corporate Knights, will talk about building a zero-emission business, modern energy management and energy audit systems and other tools to combat climate change.

On the second day of the summit, April 28, from 13:15 to 13:45, Maksim Zagornov, Director of MKC Group of Companies, President of the Distributed Power Generation Association, will deliver a report on Making the World More Energy Efficient Together: A Proposal of MKC Group and Schneider Electric for Partners. During his speech, the expert will talk about the joint implementation of small-scale distributed power generation projects through energy service contracts.

Within the framework of Innovation Summit Moscow, it is also planned to hold events for students and young professionals, as well as sessions with invited speakers and representatives of Schneider Electric on the topics of Green Corporate Culture, Work-Life Balance: How to Do Everything in Time and Be Effective and The Work of the Future plenary session.

Innovation Summit Moscow 2021 will be held from 27 to 29 April 2021 at the EXPOCENTRE Fairgrounds, Moscow, Krasnopresnenskaya nab., 14, Pavilion 7, Halls 3, 4, 5.

Innovation Summit Moscow 2021 program